MACDONALD BOY SEVERELY BURNED

The seven-year-old son of Irving Macdonald was severely burned on the right thigh Sunday evening by the exploding of a handful of caps which the youngster had in his pocket. He was playing ball with a companion when the ball hit him in the pocket and exploded the caps. A companion immediately rushed to his assistance and extinguished the fire which resulted. The caps were the variety used in the canes and exploded with a terrific noise. The burn is not serious, and the little fellow will be out in several days.

WEST END BEGINS UPWARD FLIGHT

West End was a feature on the New York and San Francisco exchanges yesterday. While the news of the rich and permanent strike had been known for several weeks, it apparently took some time for the investor to get next. At the closing of the exchanges, just before the holidays, the stock ruled at 45 bid and 46 asked. In New York yesterday morning on the opening board it was chalked up at 50, and at the close last night reached 55.

MONTANAS WIN BY A NARROW MARGIN

EAGLES-ELKS HAD GAME WITH IN GRASP SEVERAL TIMES.

A full grandstand and a great number of rooters along the side lines greeted the Elks-Eagles Sunday in their championship game with the Montana-Tonopahs. The game was not up to the usual high standard of ball that has been dished out to the Tonopah fans of late. In all probability it was due to the fact that nearly all the ball players had engaged in the various sports in the past two days and were not playing in their usual form. The Eagles-Elks had on two occasions the game with in their grasp, the work of Agnew behind the bat being responsible for the loss of the game by the hypnated orders. In the sixth inning Agnew was replaced by Peck. Hurd pitched a magnificent game and had the backstop given him the proper support the score would have been different. His drive of a three bagger brought the enthusiastic fans to their feet. On two occasions the decisions of Doan, the umpire, were questioned relative to the foul flies on the right and left of the lines. Outside of this his work was fairly good.

The final score was 8 to 7, in favor of the Montana-Tonopah aggregation.

FIRE LADDIES HOLD MEETING

WILL GIVE BANQUET TO WHICH PROMINENT CITIZENS WILL BE INVITED.

A special meeting of the Tonopah Volunteer Fire Department was held at the fire house last night in order that all bills incurred for the Fourth of July parade could be acted upon. That the volunteers are taking great interest in work that is coming before them was demonstrated by the attendance. It is the intention of the organization to select different companies throughout the city, so that in case of an alarm, each fire fighter will know exactly which hose cart to respond to, and it will be his duty to get that particular one to the fire. In order to perfect this a special meeting will be called next Thursday night at 8 o'clock, and it is the urgent wish of President Coble that every volunteer be at the fire house at that hour. A banquet will be held immediately after the meeting. The volunteers have determined to invite representative business men to occupy seats at the festival board. It is also the wish of the president that all those who participated in the parade bring back the uniforms in order that they may be cleaned for future events.

CONSIDINE WILL RETIRE.

The Reno Journal says John L. Considine has stated that he will not accept the chairmanship of the Democratic State Central Committee another term, and his successor will be elected at the Tonopah convention, unless the executive committee shall hold a meeting before that time and name a man.

RESUME OF THE FIFTH'S EVENTS

GREATEST TIME IN THE HISTORY OF TONOPAH—LIST OF WINNERS.

Main street in Tonopah Sunday from 9 a. m. until midnight was one mass of seething and surging humanity. The occasion was the day's sports, the particular events which were exciting being the drilling contests, the hose race and the water fight. The ball game in the afternoon drew a big portion to that vicinity, while the free band concert in the evening kept the crowd on the streets. The work of the miners was an inspiring sight, the friends of the contestants urging their favorites on with all the fervor they were capable of. Hoxie and Dow and L. D. Brown and Matt Poutte tied, and the purse was divided between the two sets of men. The prize for the double-handed was $350, the second $150, a total of $500.

The records were: B. I. Hoxie and G. W. Dow, 33 7-8; L. D. Brown and Matt Poutte, 33 3-4; James Tarbell and M. M. Merton, 33 9-16; Martin Shea and John Eather, 31 5-16; H. C. Tucker and Mike Curley, 30.

Judges Blackburn, Corkill and Johnson in the double-handed contest were in a quandary for a time, as there was a dispute over whether two extra blows had been struck. After a short discussion it was settled on the same basis as a similar dispute at El Paso, Tex.

The winner of the single-handed contest was Matt Poutte, who drew down the nice little sum of $100, while the second man, Andrew Ollgen, copped off $50. The depths drilled by the men are:

Matt Poutte, 22 3-4.
Andrew Ollgen, 21 5-8.
Pete Johnson, 20 11-16.
Jackson Rhimes, 30 3-4.
Joe Black, 20 3-4.
Joe Busch, 17 3-4.

Foot-racing followed the drilling contest. In the married ladies' race Mrs. Lawrence was first, prize $5; second, Mrs. Tester, prize $250.

Young ladies race—Miss Hudspeth, first prize, $5; second, Ruth Keenan, prize $250.

Fat men's race—J. G. Richardson, prize $25.

Young men's race—Roy Flynn, first, prize $10; R. Woodworth, second, prize $5.

The hose cart race was one of the most interesting events of the day. Two teams under the respective leadership of Lem Platt and Charles Coble, raced 100 yards to the fire hydrant in front of the Mizpah Hotel, where a coupling was made, and running 150 feet further, breaking the hose and the nozzle was attached.

The boys under Captain Platt were the successful ones, they having accomplished the feat in 29 seconds, while their competitors failed to break the hose. The prize of $50 will be turned into the volunteer fire department fund.

The next event was the water fight, which was certainly a novelty to the average onlooker. Stationed in the middle of the street four men hanging on to the nozzle of a fire hose, at a given signal turned water on each other with full force, the game being to drive one or the other of the teams from the field. Tom Kendall and J. J. McQuillan, both veteran fire fighters, captained each team, and the tactics with which each side hung on caused a bystander to remark that nothing short of a deluge would force them to quit, and even then they would be looking for Noah's ark.

This was fully borne out by the fact that the water from the reservoir had been nearly emptied when Reverend Puddy Grimes called the event a draw. The Tonopah United Water Company deserve more than favorable comment for the good and sufficient reason that they donated the water free to the combatants. Several of the participants will not be calling for water on the side for many moons to come. The prize was $20.

The tug-of-war, which took place at the intersection of Main street and Brounger avenue, was participated in by members of the Miners' Union and some of the husky ones from the Eagles' Lodge. The Miners, after three strenuous minutes, succeeded in pulling the tall feathers of the Eagles, and now have $80 more in their treasury.

In the evening the boys' drilling contest was held in Butler Park. It was one of the most interesting events of the day, and the way the youngsters handled the big eight-pound hammer drew the admiration of the crowd. Even when they would miss the drill and hit their comrades' hands, it would not bother them in the least, and they would keep on swinging the hammer. The event was won by Bernard Flood and Hugo Quillien, who drilled 9 1-8 inches in the allotted time of ten minutes.

utes. The Lydon brothers, Ed and Freckles, were second, with 6 1/2 inches. Harrold Fottler and Willie Kearns were third with 5 3-4 inches. The prizes were, first, $25; second, $15; third, $10. The committee added an extra $5 to all prizes.

The greased pig melted away in the hot sun and is now rendered into lard.

A number of gentlemen during the evening raised private purses and had the youngsters racing until midnight.

EXCELLENT BILL AT THE BUTLER

The Butler Theater at its change of program last evening produced one of the best programs we have had the pleasure of witnessing. The opening song, entitled "If I Had a Thousand Lives to Live," was rendered by Miss Emmett to the gratification of every one present. Although she sang this song before, it was due to the numerous requests of patrons that she sing it again. The first picture, entitled "The Mystery of a Diamond Necklace," is a view of the theft of a beautiful diamond necklace being stolen at a society ball. The theft was executed so cleverly that it was quite a mystery to unravel. Detectives are finally put on the trail, and find the stolen necklace in a far-off mining region, where the thief had taken it. The illustrated song entitled "In the Valley Where My Sallie Said Good-Bye" was well rendered by Billy Walker, and drew forth much applause. "The Girl Across the Way" is a view of an artist who has a studio on the third floor of a skyscraper. Across the street, on the same floor, is another building, he spies a woman with whom he thinks he can flirt. Wiley is put on to the scheme and conspires to find out the truth, which she does much to the sorrow of poor hubby. One of the best features the Butler Theater has had the pleasure of producing is that of Baby Hackley, the little colored juvenile performer, late of Williams & Walker's famous troupe. She sings and dances very cleverly and draws forth encore after encore. No one should fail to see her perform, as it is a great treat. The "Old Maid's Inheritance" is a view of an old maid who is left a fortune by a rich uncle. A gentleman who sees her get the coin marries her a week later and winds up the honeymoon by getting away with the coin and writing her he does not love her any more. The only consolation she has left is her dog, Fido, who is still her friend. "The Fresh Air Friend" as a view of the troublous times poor hubby has getting all the fresh air he wants. Finally Wiley hits on a novel scheme to cure him, which meets with success. The illustrated song entitled "The Moon Has Eyes on You" is very cute and catchy and never fails to please. The last picture, entitled "The Sleeping Beauty," is a beautiful hand-painted view of a Princess who is put to sleep for a hundred years by a witch for a hundred years for disobeying her commands. At the end of that time the Prince Charming who is to marry this Princess, is led to the castle on a hunting trip and finds the lady, who is immediately awakened by the fairy, and the charming Princess is accordingly married. This is one of the most beautiful pictures we have seen at the popular little playhouse, and is well worth the price of admission. Both performances were witnessed by crowded houses, and well they might be, for the whole program is very creditable.

HOLD SHORT SESSION.

At a regular monthly meeting held yesterday the County Commissioners held a short session and adjourned until this morning, when the regular routine work will be taken up. The real reason for the adjournment was that it was the day after the night before, and County Commissioner McQuillan was still feeling tough from that water bout.

A CORRECTION.

A typographical error in Sunday morning's Bonanza credited Troutman with knocking out Lawrence, when it should have been the reverse. Lawrence administered the blow to the negro which sent him to the land of nod for fully 10 minutes.

IMPORTANT CATCH BY THE POLICE

OFFICERS CAPTURE MEN WITH BURGLARS' TOOLS IN THEIR POSSESSION.

That the Police Department is ever on the alert for suspicious characters and that arrests will surely follow was again demonstrated yesterday. Chief of Police Malley detailed officers Ed Welch and Frank Walsh to watch several men who did not look good to the astute Chief. The result was the arrest of William Martell, alias Williams, and two confederates. The charge brought against them was that of having burglarious tools and instruments in their possession, with intent to commit burglary. Several keys of a peculiar design and workmanship were found in the possession of Martell. They are guaranteed to open almost any kind of a lock. The men were taken before Judge Brissell, and Martell asked for time to secure counsel. His Honor fixed the day for hearing on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, placing them under $2,000 bonds each.

The police believe that they have made an important capture.

Bert W. Hunter and wife came in from Round Mountain yesterday and will leave today for Los Angeles. They intend to remain in the southern city for two months.
